Introducing the 2017-2018 AAFSA Executive Board Members

Andrea Wilson, President
Associate Vice President, Student Support Services
Student Affairs

I am very excited to serve as AAFSA President this year. I am looking forward to a year of increase for the association. Our priorities this year will be to increase membership, increase campus involvement and presence, and increase student impact and support (especially with scholarships). My responsibility will be to focus on faculty and staff engagement, campus collaborations, campus priorities & climate. Our 2017 theme will be “And Still We R.I.S.E.”. We will Remember, Inspire, Support and Encourage our students to be successful at East Bay!

Heather Gardley, Vice President
Academic Advisor and Career Counselor
Academic Advising & Career Education (AACE)

I’m excited to be serving as the Vice President of AAFSA this year. In this role I will have the opportunity to establish a greater and more meaningful connection between AAFSA and our students. AAFSA has always promoted student achievement and success as one of its core values. As we settle into this new academic year my goal is to establish AAFSA as an active and engaged collaborator with student clubs and organizations. I want AAFSA’s presence to be felt at our student’s events and for them to know that we’re here to support them any way we can. I’m counting on the membership of AAFSA to help me see this vision to fruition.

Darrell Bailey, Treasurer
Assistant Director, Athletics

As your AAFSA Treasurer, my purpose is to ensure that as an affinity group we will support the well being of the organization through financial stability for the members of AAFSA, which include scholarships, events and special branding items. I will also be part of a strategy to incorporate membership dues that will assist with the sustaining requirements of the AAFSA scholarship for our African American students made up mostly of Kaleidoscope, Sankofa and Black Student Union (BSU) members. Lastly, to encourage true transparency of the funding status of the organization through monthly status reporting. My overall goal is to support the AAFSA Executive Board in building and strengthening our unity as an organization and creating a pipeline of access to our students.

LaRon McCoy, Secretary
Quarter-Semester Admin Support
Educational Opportunity Program (EOP)

I will be serving as your new AAFSA Secretary. I will be heading the communication aspect of the executive board. That includes the AAFSA newsletter, emails, minutes for those who cannot make our meetings and BaySync updates. I ask that all newsletter announcements be sent to me no later than 24 hours before our meetings. Meeting agendas will be sent prior to scheduled meetings and newsletters will be emailed following each meeting to include meeting highlights and updates to make sure that everyone is aware of all things AAFSA.
WELCOME NEW TENURE TRACK FACULTY

Anndretta Lyle Wilson, Ph.D. - Ethnic Studies - Dr. Wilson’s current manuscript, “Labor, Pleasure, and Possession through Transnational Black Musical Performance” traces US Black American subterranean performances from community spaces where practitioners embodied African retentions to public commercial spaces where derivative performances have been feminized, racialized, and backgrounded in service to popular music globally. Focus areas include African Diaspora Studies, Critical Performance Studies, American Studies with an Emphasis on Race, Black Feminist Theorizing, Womansist Literature, Cultures, and Critique, Popular Culture, Race and Sports, and Critical Race Theory.

Casey Nichols, Ph.D. - History
Dr. Nichols specializes in African American history, Mexican American history, U.S. urban history, and movements for social justice. Her current book project, Poverty Rebels: African American and Mexican American Protest in Post-Civil Rights America, examines post-1965 antipoverty policy with a specific focus on how these polices shaped the relationship between African Americans and Mexican Americans in Los Angeles and brought new significance to black/brown relations as U.S. racial paradigm.

Pascale Guiton, Ph.D. - Biology
Dr. Guiton’s laboratory studies the biology of Toxoplasma gondii, a ubiquitous pathogen, and other related pathogens. One third of the world population is believed to have been infected with Toxoplasma gondii. Specifically, as a molecular microbiology and microbial pathogenesis laboratory, she uses classic and novel molecular techniques to identify and characterize new determinants of Toxoplasma pathogenicity. Interested in understanding the molecular factors associated with microbial biofilm formation and their roles in biofilm-associated infections, such as Catheter-Associated Urinary Tract Infections (CAUTIs).

CONGRATULATIONS!
Professor Darryl V. Jones has been appointed as Chair of the Theatre and Dance Department for the academic years of 2017-2020!

Saleem Gilmore is the newly appointed Director for Access Programs under the Student Equity and Success area. He has oversight of EXCEL, Renaissance Scholars and the Transfer Asian Pacific American Student Success (T-APASS). The EXCEL Program assists undergraduate students in developing academic plans and solve academically related problems for students that have a demonstrated academic need, low income, first generation or have a disability. The Renaissance Scholars Program provides support services to current and former foster youth. Transfer Asian Pacific American Student Success (T-APASS) is designed to create pipelines that promote the success of Asian Pacific American students who transfer from local community colleges.

GOODBYE TO SLY!
Sylvester Donelson, Jr. left the East Bay Procurement Department at the end of September to pursue a management position for the City of Stockton. He was a dedicated mentor to many students and a longtime AAFSA supporter. He will be missed by the campus community.
