CALIFORNIA PRE-DOCTORAL PROGRAM

The California Pre-Doctoral Program was developed cooperatively by the California State University and the University of California to increase the pool of potential faculty by supporting the doctoral aspirations of California State University students who have experienced economic and educational disadvantages. Scholars are encouraged to continue their studies at the doctoral level. Inculcation of students in the profession is stressed through mentoring by faculty, involvement in formal and informal scholarly and research opportunities, interaction with doctoral-granting institutions, membership in professional associations, and attendance at professional conferences. Students are supported to attend events designed to interest students in graduate study and scholarly careers.

CSU juniors, seniors, or graduate students who are U.S. citizens or permanent residents are eligible to apply. Applicants will be selected on the basis of three major criteria: potential for success in completing a doctoral program, probable effectiveness of the student/faculty plan, and level of economic and educational disadvantage. Applicants work with a faculty sponsor to develop an overall plan which will ultimately lead to enrollment in graduate school. The program provides an opportunity for summer internships and funds for travel and other related activities.
