VI. Action Item – Evaluation of Legislative Affairs Committee

Chair Symonds indicates that the committee will be going over things that worked for the committee this year and the things that did not work for the committee.

Ream Rao mentions that the first ever candidate debate was a success as well as the voters registration.

Benavente states that he thought the Debate Event was really good. This was something that he heard about all throughout campus. Something that can be done is adding more committee members to each committee so that more members show up. There seems to be not too many members present at the meetings.

Chair Symonds states that there’s a limit of five or six committee members on committees.

The committee discusses the policy on missing meetings.

Ream- Rao states that there can be events set up on a calendar for the year. Things that consistently take place throughout the year also the prep work that was done when it came to lobbying it was a really strong thing to teach people that were hear. Lobbying at the capital the day of CHESS was a really good experience and we should look into doing more of it.
Chair Symonds states that due to the upcoming year budget cuts that if lobbying would like to be done in Sacramento, there would have to be fundraisers, carpooling, and any other means.

Benavente suggests that there should be a vice chair appointed for the lobby core under Legislative Affairs due to the lobby core committee not doing too much of anything this year. This caused me to start coming to legislative affairs committee meetings.

Chair Symonds states that the committee codes indicate how many people are supposed to be on a committee.
