The CSU East Bay Noyce Scholarship Program is designed to increase the number of qualified math and science teachers obtaining their credential at CSU East Bay and going on to serve at high needs schools.

Noyce Scholarships will be used to attract academically successful community college transfers, senior mathematics and science majors and STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering and Mathematics) professionals to become highly effective teachers in high needs school districts.

$12,000 available! Each scholar will be supported throughout the four quarters of the credential program. The award is $3,000 per quarter and all scholarship recipients will be required to teach at a high needs school for every year of support.

Application Deadline: MAY 1, 2017. More information and application are available online at: csueastbay.academicworks.com

This program is funded by the National Science Foundation DUE-1340097