Funding Controversy As Rises as Faculty Votes on Quarter-Semester Conversion

By Christine Sibley

Hayward’s conversion to a semester system never came as CSUH faculty members began voting on the conversion proposal.

Professor Calvin Caplan, a member of CSU’s statewide Academic Senate, said, “The $2 million promised by California State University is the reason for the conversion. Reed has a vision for the university is compensated.”

Merris said, “Reed, who replaced former CSU Chancellor Dr. Barry Munitz, has a vision for the university is compensated.”

Despite controversies of whether the quarter system is more beneficial than the semester system is more beneficial than the semester system.

Voting at CSUH started on Nov. 5 and will run through Dec. 7 and the results will be announced by campus police was issued on Nov. 6 and Wright turned himself in to campus police was issued on Nov. 6 and Wright turned himself in to

Aleged Embezzler Wright Surrenders to A authorities

By Zachary Honeycutt

David Wright, the former CSU Cal State Hayward accountant accused of embezzling over $350,000 from the university, has been arrested.

According to Kim Huggett, CSUH di- rector of alumni relations, “The arrest was of great deal of authority was granted to the CSUH, which has pledged all monies to the Educational Foundation.”

The arrest was of great deal of authority was granted to the CSUH, which has pledged all monies to the Educational Foundation.

Attempts to contact Wright were unsuccessful.

The audit report says University of California, Berkeley is a friendly and suitable action upon the presen-

Funding Controversy As Rises as Faculty Votes on Quarter-Semester Conversion

By Christine Sibley

Hayward’s conversion to a semester system never came as CSUH faculty members began voting on the conversion proposal.

Professor Calvin Caplan, a member of CSU’s statewide Academic Senate, said, “The $2 million promised by California State University is the reason for the conversion. Reed has a vision for the university is compensated.”

Merris said, “Reed, who replaced former CSU Chancellor Dr. Barry Munitz, has a vision for the university is compensated.”

Despite controversies of whether the quarter system is more beneficial than the semester system is more beneficial than the semester system.

Voting at CSUH started on Nov. 5 and will run through Dec. 7 and the results will be announced by campus police was issued on Nov. 6 and Wright turned himself in to campus police was issued on Nov. 6 and Wright turned himself in to

Aleged Embezzler Wright Surrenders to A authorities

By Zachary Honeycutt

David Wright, the former CSU Cal State Hayward accountant accused of embezzling over $350,000 from the university, has been arrested.

According to Kim Huggett, CSUH di- rector of alumni relations, “The arrest was of great deal of authority was granted to the CSUH, which has pledged all monies to the Educational Foundation.”

The arrest was of great deal of authority was granted to the CSUH, which has pledged all monies to the Educational Foundation.

Attempts to contact Wright were unsuccessful.

The audit report says University of California, Berkeley is a friendly and suitable action upon the presen-

Funding Controversy As Rises as Faculty Votes on Quarter-Semester Conversion

By Christine Sibley

Hayward’s conversion to a semester system never came as CSUH faculty members began voting on the conversion proposal.

Professor Calvin Caplan, a member of CSU’s statewide Academic Senate, said, “The $2 million promised by California State University is the reason for the conversion. Reed has a vision for the university is compensated.”

Merris said, “Reed, who replaced former CSU Chancellor Dr. Barry Munitz, has a vision for the university is compensated.”

Despite controversies of whether the quarter system is more beneficial than the semester system is more beneficial than the semester system.

Voting at CSUH started on Nov. 5 and will run through Dec. 7 and the results will be announced by campus police was issued on Nov. 6 and Wright turned himself in to campus police was issued on Nov. 6 and Wright turned himself in to

Aleged Embezzler Wright Surrenders to A authorities

By Zachary Honeycutt

David Wright, the former CSU Cal State Hayward accountant accused of embezzling over $350,000 from the university, has been arrested.

According to Kim Huggett, CSUH di- rector of alumni relations, “The arrest was of great deal of authority was granted to the CSUH, which has pledged all monies to the Educational Foundation.”

The arrest was of great deal of authority was granted to the CSUH, which has pledged all monies to the Educational Foundation.

Attempts to contact Wright were unsuccessful.

The audit report says University of California, Berkeley is a friendly and suitable action upon the presen-

Funding Controversy As Rises as Faculty Votes on Quarter-Semester Conversion

By Christine Sibley

Hayward’s conversion to a semester system never came as CSUH faculty members began voting on the conversion proposal.

Professor Calvin Caplan, a member of CSU’s statewide Academic Senate, said, “The $2 million promised by California State University is the reason for the conversion. Reed has a vision for the university is compensated.”

Merris said, “Reed, who replaced former CSU Chancellor Dr. Barry Munitz, has a vision for the university is compensated.”

Despite controversies of whether the quarter system is more beneficial than the semester system is more beneficial than the semester system.

Voting at CSUH started on Nov. 5 and will run through Dec. 7 and the results will be announced by campus police was issued on Nov. 6 and Wright turned himself in to campus police was issued on Nov. 6 and Wright turned himself in to

Aleged Embezzler Wright Surrenders to A authorities

By Zachary Honeycutt

David Wright, the former CSU Cal State Hayward accountant accused of embezzling over $350,000 from the university, has been arrested.

According to Kim Huggett, CSUH di- rector of alumni relations, “The arrest was of great deal of authority was granted to the CSUH, which has pledged all monies to the Educational Foundation.”

The arrest was of great deal of authority was granted to the CSUH, which has pledged all monies to the Educational Foundation.

Attempts to contact Wright were unsuccessful.

The audit report says University of California, Berkeley is a friendly and suitable action upon the presen-

Funding Controversy As Rises as Faculty Votes on Quarter-Semester Conversion

By Christine Sibley

Hayward’s conversion to a semester system never came as CSUH faculty members began voting on the conversion proposal.

Professor Calvin Caplan, a member of CSU’s statewide Academic Senate, said, “The $2 million promised by California State University is the reason for the conversion. Reed has a vision for the university is compensated.”

Merris said, “Reed, who replaced former CSU Chancellor Dr. Barry Munitz, has a vision for the university is compensated.”

Despite controversies of whether the quarter system is more beneficial than the semester system is more beneficial than the semester system.

Voting at CSUH started on Nov. 5 and will run through Dec. 7 and the results will be announced by campus police was issued on Nov. 6 and Wright turned himself in to campus police was issued on Nov. 6 and Wright turned himself in to

Aleged Embezzler Wright Surrenders to A authorities

By Zachary Honeycutt

David Wright, the former CSU Cal State Hayward accountant accused of embezzling over $350,000 from the university, has been arrested.

According to Kim Huggett, CSUH di- rector of alumni relations, “The arrest was of great deal of authority was granted to the CSUH, which has pledged all monies to the Educational Foundation.”

The arrest was of great deal of authority was granted to the CSUH, which has pledged all monies to the Educational Foundation.

Attempts to contact Wright were unsuccessful.

The audit report says University of California, Berkeley is a friendly and suitable action upon the presen-

Funding Controversy As Rises as Faculty Votes on Quarter-Semester Conversion

By Christine Sibley

Hayward’s conversion to a semester system never came as CSUH faculty members began voting on the conversion proposal.

Professor Calvin Caplan, a member of CSU’s statewide Academic Senate, said, “The $2 million promised by California State University is the reason for the conversion. Reed has a vision for the university is compensated.”

Merris said, “Reed, who replaced former CSU Chancellor Dr. Barry Munitz, has a vision for the university is compensated.”

Despite controversies of whether the quarter system is more beneficial than the semester system is more beneficial than the semester system.

Voting at CSUH started on Nov. 5 and will run through Dec. 7 and the results will be announced by campus police was issued on Nov. 6 and Wright turned himself in to campus police was issued on Nov. 6 and Wright turned himself in to

Aleged Embezzler Wright Surrenders to A authorities

By Zachary Honeycutt

David Wright, the former CSU Cal State Hayward accountant accused of embezzling over $350,000 from the university, has been arrested.

According to Kim Huggett, CSUH di- rector of alumni relations, “The arrest was of great deal of authority was granted to the CSUH, which has pledged all monies to the Educational Foundation.”

The arrest was of great deal of authority was granted to the CSUH, which has pledged all monies to the Educational Foundation.

Attempts to contact Wright were unsuccessful.

The audit report says University of California, Berkeley is a friendly and suitable action upon the presen-