‘Ice Wolf’ Howls on Campus

By Eiya Whye Ng

It is a family-themed story with the main character being a boy who befriends a wolf. The story is based on the book "The Wolf’s Tale," written by G. N. Parks. The book was published in 1995 and has been translated into many languages worldwide.

The character seeks out the forest, where animals and humans live side by side. The boy learns the ways of the forest and becomes a protector of the animals. He learns about the importance of nature and the need to preserve it.

The character, who is cast out by the Inuit tribe in Alaska, is called Anatou. The character seeks out the forest for shelter and protection. He learns about the forest and its inhabitants.

The character becomes friends with the wolf, who is also the character’s best friend. The wolf helps the character find food and shelter. The two become inseparable.

The character, who is called Anatou, is a character from the book "The Wolf’s Tale." He is the former director of the Native American Cultural Center at CSUEB.

The character seeks out the forest for shelter and protection. He learns about the forest and its inhabitants.

The character becomes friends with the wolf, who is also the character’s best friend. The wolf helps the character find food and shelter. The two become inseparable.

The character selects the "Ice Wolf" as a replacement for "A Very Old Man and the Sea" for young audiences.

For more information, contact the University Theatre box office.

"Ice Wolf" opens on April 12 and will continue through April 17. The show is scheduled for Sunday. Tickets are $6 for adults, $3 for children, and $14 for seniors. For more information, call 650-282-3399 or e-mail theaterstudies@csueb.edu.

Thursday, April 28, 2005

Foster City to Host Festival

By Marla J. Pyeones

Foster City’s second annual Pacific Island Festival will be held from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. on April 17 at the Foster City Marina. The event is free.

The Foster City Art and Culture committee is sponsoring the event, as part of its Pacific Month activities.

“Of our desire to educate the public about various aspects of the Pacific Island culture,” said Cynthia Nemenzo of Daly City, a member of the committee.

“Tahitian, Samoan and Hawaiian culture,” said Cynthia Nemenzo of Daly City, a member of the committee.

Additional activities will include a cultural and educational display of Pacific Island culture, which will be a variety of booths that will each represent the specific islands culture,” said Cynthia Nemenzo of Daly City, a member of the committee.

The event will include a number of performances, activities and food booths, which will be a variety of booths that will each represent the specific islands culture,” said Cynthia Nemenzo of Daly City, a member of the committee.

For details, contact the committee at fostercitypolyfest@yahoo.com.

Foster City, a multicultural city, was founded by Chinese immigrants in 1860. The city is located on the corner of East Fremont and North Landing Road. It is home to a variety of cultural and educational events, including the Pacific Island Festival.

The festival will feature a variety of cultural and educational displays, food booths, which will be a variety of booths that will each represent the specific islands culture,” said Cynthia Nemenzo of Daly City, a member of the committee.

Additional activities will include a cultural and educational display of Pacific Island culture, which will be a variety of booths that will each represent the specific islands culture,” said Cynthia Nemenzo of Daly City, a member of the committee.

For details, contact the committee at fostercitypolyfest@yahoo.com.

Foster City, a multicultural city, was founded by Chinese immigrants in 1860. The city is located on the corner of East Fremont and North Landing Road. It is home to a variety of cultural and educational events, including the Pacific Island Festival.