BACKGROUND:

At its meeting on March 7, 2019, CAPR discussed the College of Business and Economics' request to add "Human Resource Management and Organizational Behavior Concentration" to the existing self-support BSBA Online Program.

CAPR approved this proposal with a unanimous vote. Based on conversations and questions raised regarding the impact of self-support programs on state-side enrollment and FTEs, members of CAPR recommended that the College of Business and Economics track enrollment and graduation rates to be included in annual reports and five-year reviews to CAPR. These reports should reflect any potential impact on the decrease of enrollment and FTE in state-side programs in the College of Business and Economics.

The relevant information from curriculog is included with this memorandum here.
