SUBJECT: Nominations for 2015-2016 Week of Scholarship Faculty Awards

Nominations are now open for four 2015-16 Faculty Awards. The selection of awardees will be made by the Faculty Awards subcommittee of the Faculty Affairs Committee (FAC). Each winning candidate will be presented with an award and a gift of $500 during the California State University East Bay Week of Scholarship.

Rules pertaining to all recognitions:
• All nominations or self-nominations are open to t/tt-faculty, lecturers and coaches.
• Each nomination or self-nomination should be accompanied by a 2-page explanation of why an individual meets the criteria for that recognition and a vita for the nominated or self-nominated individual.
• The recognitions would be advertised in the Academic Affairs weekly newsletter, through posters, and an ad in the Pioneer and other means.
• Students will be encouraged to nominate faculty.

Individual recognition categories and their criteria:

Outstanding Faculty Mentor of Students
• The faculty member has mentored a number of undergraduate and or graduate students in research projects over the past year; or,
• Student researchers working with the faculty member have been successful at publishing their work in peer reviewed journals and or presenting their work at professional conferences; or,
• The faculty member has a track record of supporting student researchers both academically and professionally through advising and mentoring, or,
• The faculty member works with a diverse group of students and has made a special effort to mentor student researchers from groups that may be underrepresented in their discipline; and,
• Qualifying mentoring experiences are limited to out of class work. Instructors teaching research methods courses may not use this work in support of their nomination.

Outstanding Researchers
• Untenured - Recognition is available to an untenured faculty member, or a lecturer or coach who has been at East Bay fewer than 6 years.
• Tenured - Recognition is available to a tenured faculty member, or a lecturer or coach who has been at East Bay more than 6 years.
• The faculty member has compiled a record of publishing, grant writing, and/or presentations that are indicative of great promise or consistency to publish, get grants, and/or be recognized as an authority in their discipline; and,
• The faculty member attempts to incorporate his/her research into the teaching they perform at CSU East Bay.

Outstanding Contributor to Community Engagement
• The faculty member is very active in his/her community as a volunteer or unpaid consultant; or,
• The faculty member encourages his/her students to actively volunteer in the community through service-learning projects, internships, or other co-curricular activities; and,
• The faculty emphasizes community engagement in his/her class sessions.

Outstanding Scholar on Issues of Diversity, Social Justice & Multiculturalism
• The faculty member has a record of writing, speaking, or performing in areas that encourage awareness of diversity and social justice issues; and
• The faculty member emphasizes issues of diversity, social justice and multiculturalism in his/her teaching; and/or
• The faculty member has been active on campus in helping others to understand sensitive issues surrounding diversity, social justice and multiculturalism through participation on committees, in events, and/on faculty learning communities.

Instructions for submittal:
Faculty members interested in competing for the awards, or members of the University community interested in recommending others, may submit an electronic copy of a letter of justification (not to exceed two (2) pages) and optionally may include up to two (2) single-page letters of support. These electronic submission packets may be emailed to Sophie Rollins in the Academic Senate office at sophie.rollins@csueastbay.edu.

The deadline for submission is Friday, March 25, 2016.
