B. ACTION ITEM - Resolution of Clarifying CSUEB Online Instruction on MyCSUEB Portal
The Senate will take action on the Resolution of Clarifying CSUEB Online Instruction. Move to adopt the Resolution of Clarifying CSUEB Online Instruction on MyCSUEB portal by D. Cuevas, second by M. Clark.

D. Cuevas states that when someone signs up for classes, it should say whether the course is asynchronous or synchronous. Some professors are switching it up or doing a combination of both, which is disadvantaging for student success. The resolution ensures that for future semesters, the University Senate or person in charge of uploading items to the portal clarifies those details. E. Pamela Sanchez states that this resolution was discussed at the Executive committee meeting. The resolution is important and as D. Cuevas mentioned, professors will change the structure of the class and it is not fair to students. We need to hold professors accountable and ensure that they do not change anything the middle of the semester. This is a great resolution. Shout out to M. Maamou and D. Cuevas. M. Clark states that she reviewed the resolution yesterday. I like the resolution and this is something that I have talked about in CLASS, as well as with the Dean. The Chairs of CLASS have been great at calling out professors within CLASS to make sure they are following the asynchronous or synchronous ways and in-person classes. Whatever is needed to be done for CLASS, I will definitely do.

R. Jimenez states that this resolution will be great for hybrid classes. I am taking a hybrid course, but there is no description of the days that the class will be meeting or how many times a semester. This will be helpful for students that are choosing classes or weighing the workload. A. de Leon states that this resolution is well written. I wanted to look at the resolve because I was curious to see what is needed from Academic Affairs or the Academic Senate. I sat on a committee over the summer that worked on the instruction for the fall semester. They mentioned that for each of the classes, if it was asynchronous, there would be no times and if it was synchronous, times would be included. I like this idea because it clarifies what is synchronous or asynchronous. When I told my students that they need to look at the times, they did not realize that is what you are supposed to look for. I was curious to know if D. Cuevas and M. Maamou would be open to mentioning something in the resolve about making sure it is enforced in some way. I know some professors will be asynchronous and will have a class that is required for class participation. I have a class like this and I have meetings so I am unable to attend. It would be something to include because it will ensure that the descriptions will be followed. A. Kalavadi states that she has an idea. It would be great if professors can specify if the exams will be asynchronous or synchronous in the beginning of the course. I had that issue and the course would say that it is asynchronous and the exams are synchronous. In that situation, if I had taken another class, it would not have worked. If that is something you could add of request, it would be great. M. Clark states that in the MyCSUEB portal, when searching for classes, specifically for CLASS, it is hard to read. Many of the classes are synchronized for one week, asynchronous for the following month, and in person for the following month. It can be confusing for students when choosing classes. This will hold professors accountable in making sure that all of the classes are just asynchronous or asynchronous on certain days. Again, this is for CLASS and this is something I have been talking about. D. Cuevas states that she has listened to everyone’s feedback. I am working on another resolution and it will be similar to this one, but will be more in depth. If everyone can email their feedback, it would be great and it can be added to the new resolution.

12 Ayes, resolution ADOPTED.

VIII. SPECIAL REPORTS:
No special reports.

IX. ROUND TABLE REMARKS
A. de Leon states she hopes everyone is having a good Thursday. I mentioned this during the Board of Directors meeting, but there are only a few Senate committee meetings left. I have been pushing everyone to work on their events, ideas, and pass those resolutions. I want to continue to encourage you all to do so. When you are in these roles, you are representing and advocating for students and for yourself. I want everyone to take a step back and think about the mark they would like to leave in their position. Obviously, we are doing that now with being in a pandemic. I encourage everyone to have those meetings and to continue advocating and pushing for students. I have met with a lot of you this week. Please let me know if you need help and K. Dhillon is here as well as the whole team. I love you all and I cannot wait to see what we are going to do for the rest of the next semester.

D. Cuevas states that today is her last Senate committee meeting. I was just appointed to be the next Executive Vice President. It is bittersweet, but it has been a long journey for me and I am excited to take the next step. Just because I am not apart of the Senate committee anymore does not mean you cannot reach out to me. I can help with any project.

A. Kalavadi states that she has an idea. There was a student that came to me and talked about the issues that they faced during the winter break. She had issues with housing and she is an international student. She became homeless for a week and she could not find help from anyone on campus. She is doing okay right now, but after talking to her, I had an idea. If we could have some form of a complaint form for students, it would remain anonymous for students and departments as well. I wanted to check with everyone before I continue with this idea. It can be for all students and we can work in collaboration. K. Disharoon states that at Virginia tech, there was something similar to what A. Kalavadi mentioned. It worked similar to neighborhood watch and it was mostly addressed at things that people would see on campus regarding identity and social justice issues. People would anonymously report them. The form could work in the same way. There is something similar on campus already. If a student comes to you, you can come to me and communicate what the student said. A CARES report would be created and it will go to a group of people. Martin Castillo and Shauna Hong, the Director for Counseling are on it. The information will be given to the appropriate person to reach out to that individual. I have done that a few times. A. Kalavadi, are you asking to first address the issue to someone that is not a full-time staff member?

A. Kalavadi states that since there is a system for it, it would be a great idea to promote it through social media or on the CSUEB website. Students will be aware that there is a system and know where to report to.

K. Disharoon states that A. Kalavadi will need to work with Nicholas Brandao on that. He works with Darice Ingram from HOPE. I can connect you to Nicholas Brandao and so can K. Dhillon and A. de Leon.

M. Maamou states that she will be having a COVID-19 talk on March 24th. I will be sending out the flyer and invitation. It is open to all and there will be many fun giveaways. We are also collaborating with Alumni Relations. The talk will be helpful and will help when it is your turn to take the vaccine. It will be with Dr. Nazzy Pakpour and she is great. She explains things in a way that you can understand. I hope to see you all there and I will be sending out more information.

E. Pamela Sanchez states that she is here to support and will be willing to brainstorm ideas. I cannot thank you all enough for stepping into these roles during a pandemic. I know it can be difficult learning and working in a virtual setting. I am always here and I am excited to help you all reach your goals by the end of the semester.
A. de Leon states that everyone should check their task lists and make sure everything is done. We will be doing check-in groups next week or the following week. Please check your Google Calendars for that.
