N. Calara states that the next time they discuss the candidates for each committee, they would like them to discuss their strengths and capacities as they act on it.
K. Sheshadri states there are 10-15 applications that were submitted beyond the deadline that was posted. If it is possible, they can reach out to the applicants to schedule an interview.
G. Felix asks if students can be on the same committee.
N. Calara asks are they ready to vote on the committee members today?
K. Sheshadri states that it would be beneficial if they push through the voting process today and waiting for other committees to get their interviews done will take more time.
J. Carroll addresses the overlapping committee's concern by stating that it is the committee head’s responsibility to avoid overlapping meetings to meet quorum.
N. Calara states the Committees and Mentorship program will be effective next semester.
C. Martinez-Aguilera clarifies that the Mentorship Program would be effective immediately.
J. Carroll states that once the board votes, students are approved as of date. The only thing they should consider is the timespan of the onboarding process that Sneh and her team will accomplish.

N. Calara suggests that the Board Member should put their meetings on hold until the next semester since there’s one more month left of the Fall semester, and this will give more time for Sneh’s team to process the paperwork.

VII. NEW BUSINESS ITEMS:
A. DISCUSSION ITEM: Resolution in Support of Carbon Neutrality
   The ASI Board of Directors will be discussing the Resolution in Support of Carbon Neutrality.
   H. Corum discusses the Resolution in Support of Carbon Neutrality based on the 2018 Climate Action Plan to the Board of Directors.
   N. Calara asks how they discovered the standing on the Carbon Neutrality of CSU East Bay.
   H. Corum states it is uploaded on the website.
   N. Calara follows up with a question on their resolve after this resolution has been passed.
   H. Corum states that a few of the results would be ASI’s higher level of involvement, updated greenhouse gas, pollution data, and urging facilities to meet hard deadlines, such as installing photovoltaic panels.
   J. Carroll asks if there is any data on why there was a stall in the progress of providing the resolution. He also follows up intending to invite the sustainability manager to talk directly with the Board Members in terms of reprioritizing certain things.
   H. Corum states they do not have any deadline on when the Climate Action Plan will be reassessed, but in the 2018 Climate Action Plan it states that it will be reassessed in 2023. Thus, the resolution is created.

42:56

B. INFORMATIONAL ITEM: Academic Senate Meeting Updates
   The ASI Board of Directors will be discussing the Academic Senate Meeting Updates.
E. Quineri discusses the Academic Senate Meeting Updates regarding the Multi-Tuition Increase and spring course cuts.

N. Calara states efforts to follow-up on President Sandeen’s video response on the Multi-Tuition Increase is appreciated.

H. Corum asks if the video response of President Sandeen a challenge or collaboration with her to raise awareness of the current issues of CSUs.

E. Quineri states that the intention is to create solidarity with administration, faculty, and students.

H. Corum asks what is the goal of our video other than informing the student population about it?

E. Quineri states the video response is for students to have a better understanding of where our schools are financially and why these changes are happening.

S. Spencer discusses the causes and effects of having fewer students enroll, which influences the hiring process of professors and results in the cut of courses in the following semesters. He explains that department chairs do not make these decisions blindly.

G. Felix asks when the video response will be posted due to the possible faculty strike.

E. Quineri states they plan to release it by January at the latest.

H. Corum asks how can they act on the issue besides talking about it?

E. Quineri states that he doesn’t have the right solution and there are a lot of things that are outside of his realm of knowledge.

S. Spencer states it is the chairs of each department of the college that make the decisions. Hence, he suggests students should voice their concerns to them.

H. Corum asks should this be done collectively?

S. Spencer states that being on the waitlist speaks volumes of enough people to say that there is a demand for classes.

H. Corum asks how much would being on the waitlist resolve the issue?

S. Spencer states that it is how enrollment management is run.

N. Calara states that Pastries with the President are a way for students to raise their concerns to the President since the student’s voice is very powerful.

S. Spencer states although the student’s voice is powerful and important, the decisions are made by the chair and the department with reliable and valid evidence.

G. Felix reiterates the importance of raising concerns to the right resources.
N. Calara states Senators are great resource for students besides emailing the faculty. In addition, students can also make public comments during the Board of Trustees.

J. Carroll reiterates to act on the issue considering long term solutions.

1:19:10

C. DISCUSSION ITEM: Resume Building Workshop
The ASI Board of Directors will be discussing the Resume Building Workshop. C. Doolam discusses the Resume Building Workshop to the Board of Directors. K. Sheshadri reports the Resume Building Workshop success.
