Required Upper Division Electives

In the quarter catalog, three courses outside of the department are required, for a minimum of 10 units. You may select these electives from the approved elective courses posted, along with policies, at the approved electives list. We strongly encourage students to select courses from the courses that overlap with upper division G.E. requirements.

In the semester catalog, 18 units of elective units are needed to meet degree (rather than major) requirements, 15 of which are upper division. Of these units, one course in human/cognitive lifespan development is required (HDEV 4110 or PSYC 4420 in the quarter catalog). Other content to consider are: SPPA electives, minor requirements, or courses in biological/health sciences, communication, cultural groups, early childhood education, English, human development, psychology, second language, or statistics. Students should meet with the AACE and update their IAP’s to verify unit requirements are being met.

* The name of the department changes to Speech, Language and Hearing Sciences.
