LATIN & UNIVERSITY HONORS – 2026
CELEBRATING ACADEMIC ACHIEVEMENT

PROVOST'S MESSAGE

Welcome to the University Honors Ceremony. Today we recognize a group of students whose academic accomplishments reflect sustained effort, discipline, and thoughtful engagement with learning. This recognition matters because it marks not a single moment of success, but a pattern of choices made over time.

Earning Latin or University Honors requires more than strong grades. It requires deciding, again and again, to focus when time is limited, to persist when work becomes difficult, and to remain engaged when competing demands pull in different directions. Many of you balanced coursework with jobs, family responsibilities, leadership roles, research, creative work, and service. Learning how to manage those tradeoffs, and how to maintain balance while pursuing high standards, is a skill you will carry with you long after graduation.

Academic achievement at this level reflects learning as an active choice. It is the result of asking questions, revising ideas, seeking feedback, and staying curious even when the answers are not immediate. Honors recognize not just performance, but the habits of mind that support deep and lasting learning.

Your achievements did not occur in isolation. Faculty mentors challenged you, guided your work, and supported your growth. Staff created environments where learning could happen. Classmates contributed ideas and perspectives that strengthened your understanding. Together, you formed learning communities that asked more of one another and made the work better as a result.

Latin honors recognize students whose cumulative academic performance places them among the highest achievers in their graduating class. University Honors graduates completed substantial research or creative projects under the direction of faculty mentors, meeting professional standards within their disciplines or across fields. These distinctions reflect sustained commitment and a willingness to take learning further than required.

As graduates of Cal State East Bay, you carry forward more than an academic record. You carry experience working within communities, contributing to them, and learning how to help them thrive and change for the better. The habits you developed here, focus, perseverance, reflection, and balance, will serve you as you strengthen the communities you are part of in the years ahead.

Each Latin Honors and University Honors graduate receives a medallion as a symbol of this accomplishment. I hope you wear it with pride at commencement and see it as a reminder of the work you have done and the standards you have set for yourself.

Congratulations on completing your degree and on this well-earned recognition. I look forward to seeing how you continue to learn, contribute, and stay connected as alumni of Cal State East Bay.

Warm regards,

Anthony Muscat, Ph.D.
Provost and Vice President for Academic Affairs
