Using Self-Compassion to Change Negative Self-Talk

- 1. Think about the ways that you use self-criticism as a motivator. Do you criticize yourself because you think being hard on yourself will help you change? If so, first try to get in touch with the emotional pain that your self-criticism causes, giving yourself compassion for the experience of feeling so judged.
- 2. Next, see if you can think of a kinder, more caring way to motivate yourself to make a change. What language would a wise and nurturing friend, parent, teacher, or mentor use to gently point out how your behavior is unproductive, while simultaneously encouraging you to do something different? What is the most supportive message you can think of that's in line with your underlying wish to be healthy and happy?
- 3. Continually notice your harsh self-talk and shift it. Remember that if you really want to motivate yourself, love is more powerful than fear.

Components of Self-Compassion

- 1. Mindfulness: This is a moment of suffering
  - Ouch. This hurts
  - This is stress.
- 2. Common humanity: Suffering is a part of life
  - Other people feel this way.
  - I'm not alone.
  - We all struggle in our lives.

Now, put your hands over your heart, feel the warmth of your hands and the gentle touch of your hands on your chest. Or adopt the soothing touch you discovered felt right for you.

3. Kindness: May I be kind to myself

You can also ask yourself, “What do I need to hear right now to express kindness to myself?” Come up with a phrase that speaks to you in your particular situation.

Self-Affirmations

Affirmations can focus on several categories, including character traits, physical attributes, and skills and/or accomplishments.

1. Start your affirmations with “I am”, “I can”, “I will”, “I welcome” (e.g., “I am a good friend”)
2. Keep them short (we don’t need a novel)
3. Keep them positive (avoid saying “not”)
4. Use feeling words when you can (e.g., “I am proud of myself”)
5. Keep them focused on you (after all, they are self-affirmations!)

Examples: “I am proud that I am hard-working” or “I am thankful for my strong legs”

Share 1 in the chat box!

Help with Self-Affirmations

Feeling stuck? Ask yourself questions like these:

- When was a time that you felt proud of yourself and why?
- Have you ever forgiven someone who has hurt you?
- Have you ever received a compliment that you agree with?
- What would your best friend or a loved one say about you?

Feeling Guilty? Consider this:

- We are socialized to ignore or minimize our positive characteristics.
- Unfortunately, we then just dwell on our “negatives.”
- Practicing self-affirmations helps bring balance and improve mood.

I AM
ENOUGH.

I BELIEVE IN ME.

I AM
WORTHY OF LOVE.

I AM
ON MY SIDE.

I TAKE CARE OF MYSELF.

MY HEART
KNOWS.
