

Dwana Timms, from left, Justin Sharlman, Shawn Hawkins and Krystal Bates will perform in "Ice" Dec. 4 and 5.

Song, dance extravaganza previews senior projects

- October 15, 2009
- MEDIA CONTACT: Diane Daniel, CLASS Publicist, 510-885-3183

"Ice," an extravaganza of song and dance, introduces performers and work from across the Cal State East Bay campus and community. Dance styles will include contemporary, jazz, hip hop and praise – or liturgical – dance. The show will be staged three times, at 7 p.m. Dec. 4, and 4 and 8 p.m. Dec. 5 in the Dance Studio, PE 140, on the Hayward Campus, 25800 Carlos Bee Blvd.

This year's performers range from those who have never been on stage to experienced members of the CSUEB Dance Ensemble, as well as two student clubs, Eclectic Pulse and Stance Dance Club. Featured work in progress from this year's senior dance students will include Amy La-Faille's "Lusting After Seduction" and Justin Sharlman's "Bent But Not Broken." CSUEB alumna Phylcia Stroud also returns with "On Demand," the children's hip hop company she directs in Oakland.

The program is produced by Nina Haft and Eric Kupers and other members of the CSUEB dance faculty. Darryl Jones directs the production, while Lecturer Gia Solari will direct the Musical Theatre Ensemble.

Tickets are $5 for general admission, or $3 for CSUEB students. Reserve tickets at http://class.csueastbay.edu/theatre/Ticket\_Reservations.php<sup>[5]</sup> or call (510) 885-3118.

© Copyright California State University, East Bay.